

Reflection

Jesus says:-

You ask,

“where should I go?”

and I say unto you: seek My face.

You ask,

“what should I do?”

and I say unto you: be a child after your Father's own heart.

I tell you first to be, and not to do. There is more to life than doing.

I will call you to the work, and I will speak to you of My will, but won't you seek My face?

Won't you be a child after your Father's own heart?

My voice, with pangs of longing, says “come,” and My hand, with a soft tenderness, is beckoning you unto My heart.

My little one, I love you! Yet how will you know in full measure until you are lying in My arms?

How will you know this brightness until you see it on

My very face?

Acts 17:22-28

Then Paul stood in front of the Areopagus and said, 'Athenians, I see how extremely religious you are in every way. For as I went through the city and looked carefully at the objects of your worship, I found among them an altar with the inscription, "To an unknown god." What therefore you worship as unknown, this I proclaim to you. The God who made the world and everything in it, he who is Lord of heaven and earth, does not live in shrines made by human hands, nor is he served by human hands, as though he needed anything, since he himself gives to all mortals life and breath and all things. From one ancestor he made all nations to inhabit the whole earth, and he allotted the times of their existence and the boundaries of the places where they would live, so that they would search for God and perhaps grope for him and find him—though indeed he is not far from each one of us. For "In him we live and move and have our being"; as even some of your own poets have said, □ "For we too are his offspring."
