Sample Roommate Agreement for Alberta Renters

Why do you need a written Roommate Agreement?

Alberta's Residential Tenancies Act sets out the responsibilities and duties that a landlord has to the tenant, and the tenant to the landlord. The legislation does not address the roommate relationship and what duties and responsibilities roommates have to each other. A written agreement helps you avoid having problems with your roommates.

Usually when you rent an apartment or house, there will be a written lease between the landlord and the tenants but it does not explain how those tenants will live together as roommates. A Roommate Agreement states how the roommates will share the responsibilities of renting –for example, how much of the rent each roommate is responsible for paying, how the rent will be paid to the landlord, and who will pay the landlord.

What should a Roommate Agreement say?

The attached Sample Roommate Agreement contains examples of matters that can be covered by an agreement. The sample agreement contains some terms that may not apply to your situation, so it should be adapted to fit your situation. Before agreeing to terms in an agreement, tenants should get legal advice.

NOTE: If your landlord is your roommate, the "Sample Living with Your Landlord Agreement for Alberta Renters" is more appropriate for your situation.
